Derby Winter Ale Festival 2020

It's 2020 which means it's time to plan your visit to one of the best Beer Festivals in the Country (not that we're biased!).

Returning to the historic Roundhouse this February is the 16th Derby CAMRA Winter Ale Festival and as ever it will be an unmissable experience featuring over 400 cask ales, ciders, perries, bottled world beers, craft keg, meads and gins. And with top quality entertainment each evening to match there will be something for everyone to enjoy throughout the festival. Keep an eye on the Derby CAMRA Festival Facebook, Twitter and Instagram for updates or visit www.derbycamra.org.uk/winter-beer-festival to plan your visit.

And don't forget, our festival could not run without our fantastic team of volunteers so if you could spare a few hours of your time particularly on a Friday or Saturday night then please sign up to volunteer. To learn more about the great benefits of volunteering check out our piece below.....

Meet Team Derby

At this time of year a lot of hard work is being undertaken to prepare for Derby Winter Ale Festival 2020. As Volunteer Manager my role at present is to recruit volunteers to give up their precious free time so we can make the event happen. In Derby we have a fantastic team who come back year after year, some who were there at the very first festival, and each year a few newcomers who soon become part of the 'family'. Most are from Derby and the surrounding areas, but some travel quite long distances to work with us as they appreciate what we do.

In 2019 our goal was to deliver a festival 'experience' and I think the pop-up entertainment and the excellent weather helped us to achieve this. For me the festival is a bit of a blur as there is a lot to do in the office making sure each area has enough volunteers (never enough!), answering queries and attending to staff welfare, which we do take very seriously. When I did manage to pop out and see what was going on everyone seemed to be having a good time and there was a real party atmosphere. That, and the overwhelmingly positive feedback, gives me a buzz and this is what keeps me coming back time and again.

Lin, Volunteer Manager

What's not to like about volunteering for helping at a Derby beer festival? I served at the first ten and, revitalised after around twenty years sabbatical, rallied to the cause again for the last rites (temporary we hope) of the Summer event, and continue to be captivated by the venue and atmosphere at the Round House. Derby CAMRA organization is very slick and professional. They have got it right after many years of learning. You could say these events run like well-oiled machines. Perhaps the oil comes from the axles of the ghost engines in the Round House?

Every year previous volunteers' acquaintances are renewed, names relearned and then forgotten again. Easy access to beers around your allocated patch is a massive perk. Without exception customers are in an upbeat mood, usually seeking to quaff as many different beers of their preferred taste as their capacities will allow.

I like working a full day's shift, usually Thursday, to see the full spectrum of visitors. It is very rewarding serving smiling people their amber nectar. It is also fascinating to observe the customers especially the changing colour of their hair. Just after opening it tends to be grey and darkens as local workers sneak a crafty lunch time slurp. Back to grey until early evening when it darkens again.

I can't wait for the 2020 event – and neither can Derby and the travellers from Nottingham, Leicester, Loughborough, Birmingham......

Phil, Long term volunteer

I have been a volunteer bar manager for a number of years. I do this because I enjoy being involved with running the festival, knowing what goes on behind the scenes and most importantly because of the people I meet both behind and in front of the bar. I have made many friends and hope I have encouraged others to get involved. I make sure my team know what they are doing and encourage them to enjoy their time with us. I hope this means they will help us again in the future

Andy, Bar Manager

2020 will be my fifth Derby Winter Ales Festival, having made my first appearance in 2016 as a fresh-faced trainee on the official CAMRA Bar Manager course when Derby last hosted the National Winter Ales Festival (now Great British Beer Festival Winter [GBBFW]), taking place in Birmingham in early February

It was my first ever trip to Derby, and I was so impressed with the city, its pubs and its residents, and made to feel so welcome by everyone at the beer festival, that I've been coming back to help out at the festival ever since

Although I originally signed up to volunteer behind the bar serving beer, I've spent the last two years in the glasses and admissions area, which isn't something I'd ever have considered signing up for, but it has been a lot of fun working with a great team of fellow volunteers to welcome customers into the venue and then wish them a safe journey home a few hours later.

Although it's always shorts weather at many beer festivals, it can be a little cold in the admissions tent in February, but the unseasonably sunny and warm weather for the 2019 festival was a joy to behold, and it was great to see so many people relaxing on the grassed areas at the venue enjoying some of the great beers and ciders that the festival always has on offer.

In 2020 I'm confident that, with a great team in place, we'll be able to continue the good work, and ensure there are hundreds of great beers to enjoy at DWAF 2020.

Steve, Foyer Manager

With all the current uncertainty and the disruption the weather has been causing recently, it is good to have a positive event to focus on and look forward to, the 2020 Derby Winter Ale Festival.

There is always the excitement of the challenge ahead as we start the planning process, working from what we hopefully did well in the previous festival, and searching for ways to improve for the next, looking for new people to add to those present to help organise and work the event.

The festival is an important part of our city's social event calendar and an integral part of the campaign promoting our local breweries and pubs within the aims of CAMRA. It is held in the iconic historic building of the Round House, steeped in the memories of the early pioneers who worked there, which helped give Derby its place in the history of engineering and railways in our country.

To play a leading role is an honour but success in events past and, hopefully, future is down to the volunteers, you and me, so please consider helping us by being part of the team of volunteers working the Derby Winter Ales Festival 2020.

Russell, Festival Organiser

These are just a few of our great team from 2019. If you would like to be a part of Team Derby 2020 you can find an online form at the Winter Festival page on the Derby CAMRA website. Alternatively you can contact Lin at wintervolunteers@derby.camra.org.uk

Derby Pubs Month Let's Look Forward to Summer

We all know how great our pubs are here in Derby. So Derby CAMRA is planning a celebration of our pubs here in the city.

The event will take place during July 2020 and will include a celebration and promotion of our pub events. We are just putting together the finer details but this event will include pub walks, a tour map of participating pubs here in Derby and promotion across the East Midlands area of what is usually a great month of pub-based beer festivals and live music.

So if you run a pub in our great city and want to be included we need you to get in touch. We will then forward to you the options you have to get involved.

If you want to volunteer to assist organising this celebration of our fantastic hostelries, we have a small group meeting next on Monday January 20th at 8pm, Alexandra Hotel.

Come along or email pickersgillalan@aol.com for more information.

Young Derby CAMRA

On Friday, 29th November we hopped on the Red Arrow to go Winter Wandering with our friends at Nottingham CAMRA. Great beer was had at some brilliant pubs including the Canalhouse, Cured and Barley Twist. If we didn't make it to your favourite, don't worry – we're already writing our list for next time!

Our next social is at the Brunswick Inn on Thursday, 30th January, where we'll be holding an open-mic-style music night. So if you love to sing, play an instrument or just want to sit back and enjoy while trying some great beer and cider, come along and join us! Keep an eye on our Facebook and Instagram for more details!

Before you know it, it will be Derby Winter Ale Festival 2020! There are so many benefits for young members to volunteer at our festival, so many that we've written a blog piece about it! Head to thederbydraft.co.uk to learn more! Real Ale Drinkers Love it in the Ditch

DERBY CITY PUB OF THE YEAR 2006

erby Winter Festival at the Roundhouse is now on the horizon, and we are hard at work putting together a fantastic cider list for you. As previously we will run two cider bars, one in the main hall and another in the music marquee. There will be different ciders on the two bars, so if you can't find a cider you want on one it's probably on the other bar. We hope to please as many customers as possible by striking a good balance between traditional ciders and fruit ciders, whose popularity is as strong as ever. Two makers of fruit cider which you won't see in the pubs around here are Bottle Kicking from Leicestershire and Hubz from Peterborough. From Bottle Kicking we will have Rhubarb and Strawberry, probably Black and Blue too. From Hubz it will be Cranberry and Raspberry and, of course, Pineapple at a whopping 8.7%. Expect plenty more fruit ciders from Weston's, Broadoak, Sheppey's and others.

We will have a trio of local ciders from Three Cats, Sisson & Smith and Monkey Bridge. Ciders from Somerset will include plenty of classics: Janet's Jungle Juice from Westcroft, a selection of single variety ciders from Hecks, probably Kingston Black and Port Wine of Glastonbury and, of course, from down on the farm we will have Wilkins. Winkleigh Autumn scrumpy from Devon is always popular, as is Double Vision from Kent. Perry (pear cider if you insist on calling it that) is struggling these days, so there will be a number of perries at the Festival, mainly from Herefordshire. You can expect Newton Court, Ross-on-Wye (Broome Farm), Oliver's and probably Dunkerton's.

Amber Valley has been judging its cider pub of the year, so I had the tough job of visiting the finalists. First was the Honeypot (back bar of the Beehive, Peashill). The weather was foul, but the bar was packed and very welcoming. I sampled Wilces medium from Ledbury, Herefordshire, a very pleasant and authentic cider. I also tried one from the Gwatkins stable: far too sweet for my liking. Next was the Thorn Tree, Belper. This pub has not made the cider judging before: I was pleased to try their Weston's Old Rosie, which, though quite common in pubs, is definitely a real cider. They also had Thatcher's Cheddar Valley, now rebranded as Stan's (I've no idea why). It tasted pretty good, even though it wasn't as thick and red as it used to be. Next to the White Hart at Bargate, recently East Midlands Pub of the Year. I sampled Gwynt y Ddraig Black Dragon there, in very good nick too. Unfortunately that was the only real cider on offer. There were a number of Lilley's Fruit Ciders: I'm afraid that is what you find in a majority of pubs these days and it isn't for me.

Angels Bar in the square at Belper was my next visit, and there was a good range of cider, all at the very reasonable price of £3 per pint. Here I found the only perry on my travels, Ty Gwyn from Pontrilas, Herefordshire. This was good if slightly dry for a perry. I also sampled Black Dragon, which I regard as almost a benchmark cider. Last but not least was the Dead Poets Inn at Holbrook. It was pleasing to see local ciders here, I tried one from Ashover: excellent, too, but I'm not sure that the brand is to continue. Also there was Kniveton Cider, pretty good but bone dry, fine if that's how you like your cider. By the time you read this the winner and runner up will have been announced, the winner going forward to the East Midlands round of judging.

SOCIAL REPORT

CHRISTMAS TRIP TO CHESTERFIELD (WHITTINGTON MOOR)

As this issue went to press, we were getting ready for the annual branch Christmas trip which this year was to be on Saturday, 7th December, and take in some of the pubs in the Whittington Moor area, north of Chesterfield town centre. All things being equal, a report will appear in the next issue of DD.

SURVEY TRIP

Plans are afoot for a survey trip to visit pubs in our Branch area which - for one reason or another - we don't get to as often as we'd like. There's a provisional date of 1st February and, subject to funding, we'll be taking a minibus to survey pubs in the Dale Abbey, Stanton-by-Dale, Stanton, West Hallam and Mapperley areas. There is a limit of 16 people for this trip. Please contact the secretary (Email listed below) for more information.

PUB & BREWERY NEWS

The White Hart in West Hallam is boarded up and looks to be destined for a future unassociated with selling beer.

The Railway Tavern in Langley Mill has been refurbished and at the time of going to press is up to let. A new licensee is taking over the lease of the Mill & Brook in Long Eaton. After a short period of closure for refurbishment, the Eclipse Bar in Loscoe reopened under new ownership in November with reports of two or three real ales on sale, and live music playing an important role. As we reported in a recent issue, Abstract Jungle is no more, having sold its equipment to Bang The Elephant. It is however reported that the Bunny Hop micro pub is not part of the deal. Old Sawley Brewery has launched its seasonal brew at its 'tap', the White Lion in Sawley. 'Plummeth Grand Cru' is a 6.0% abv version of its popular plum porter, and should be available throughout the winter months. To correct a report in the last issue, the Little Acorn in Ilkeston is indeed selling Shipstones Mild & Bitter, but in bottle, not in cask!

AMBER VALLEY NEWS

Firstly, Happy New Year and all the best for 2020!

Pub of the Year

Amber Valley's CAMRA 2020 Pub of the Year competition is now underway. The shortlist was announced on 1st December after 196 nominations for 32 pubs were received, and the top eight scoring pubs proceeding to judging are as follows: Angels Micropub (Belper), Arkwrights Real Ale Bar (Belper) Dead Poets Inn (Holbrook), Holly Bush (Makeney), Hunter Arms (Kilburn), Old Oak (Horsley Woodhouse), Thorn Tree (Belper), White Hart (Bargate, Belper). Judging continues until the close of January, following specific CAMRA guidelines. Any CAMRA member is welcome to take part in the judging. Many thanks to all members who took the time to nominate their favourite pubs - it is only your input that decides what the eight finalists will be. If you are interested, please contact us at poty@ambervalley.camra.org.uk – you need to visit each of the pubs at least once before the end of January and fill in a scoresheet. The results will be announced at our AGM at the Old Oak, Horsley Woodhouse which starts at 8pm on Thursday 27th February 2020. Good luck to each finalist.

Chesterfield trip on Saturday, 23rd November

Sixteen members joined the trip, meeting at the Pig and Pump, where we found a good selection of beers and a sausage and cider festival underway which we unfortunately didn't have time to take advantage of. We were disappointed to find the Rutland Arms closed for business but pleasantly surprised by our first visit to The Rectory, which was cosy and welcoming despite being a restaurant as well as a pub. Some of the group visited the historic Royal Oak on the Shambles whilst others went on ahead to the Chesterfield Alehouse where we eventually took over the upstairs room

- photo attached. Next stops along

Chatsworth Road were the Junction and the Crafty Dog, both serving a variety of cask ales and an even greater choice of more unusual keg beers which many of the group enjoyed. At this point some of the group carried on up the road to the Taphouse and the Rose and Crown where they had the added bonus of a weekend beer festival. Others went straight to the Tramway Tavern, the Brampton Brewery tap, and sampled some of their beers we hadn't come across before heading for the bus home. It was our first winter trip to Chesterfield so we missed all the beer gardens, but it made a nice change to be in the warm, cosy pubs on a damp winter's day.

Pub news

On 1st December, Steve and Angela said goodbye after three years tenancy of the Talbot in Ripley - we wish them all the very best for a well-deserved rest and whatever the future holds. Thanks to their hard work and enthusiasm this iconic pub turned around, becoming a vibrant, warm and welcoming community hub, filled with conversation, exciting beers, cider and music. May their excellent legacy continue under new tenants, Rob and Sarah.

The Pump It Up micro on Bridge Street in Belper was closed for a week last November before being taken over by Matlock Wolds Farm brewery. Ade and his team had opened and run it for the past 16 months before deciding to sell up.

Also in Belper, planning permission has been sought for a new micropub located near the Market Place, round the corner from Colledges, furniture store - more news to follow about this, the fourth micro in this bustling town.

The Marquis of Ormonde in Codnor closed down in late November after being run for five years by Keli and Ed Wilde.

The Winter Ale Trail Returns!

Yes, for the fourth year in succession, the Winter Ale Trail will be taking place across five CAMRA Branch areas, with pubs from Amber Valley, Ashbourne, Derby, Erewash Valley and Mansfield & Ashfield trying to win those coveted winners and runners-up certificates. This year's trail will begin on Friday, 10th January, and conclude on Saturday, 15th February, just a few days before the Derby Winter Ales Festival begins, with the winners and runners-up being informed on Sunday, 16th February.

As usual, some free beer will be on offer at the Winter Festival for those who can collect at least 20 stickers from the Derby, Ashbourne and Amber Valley CAMRA pubs on the Trail, or all the pubs taking part from the Erewash Valley and Mansfield & Ashfield CAMRA Branches. The trail card is printed in this edition of the Drinker, and completed cards need to be handed in at the membership desk at the Winter Ales Festival in exchange for beer tokens. Of course, if anyone collects enough stickers from multiple branch areas they will be rewarded with a pint for each area they have covered.

As for how the certificates can be won, we are once again asking drinkers to help us decide the outcome. Whether you are a CAMRA member or not, you can vote for pubs in all the branch areas you visit. We ask that you name your top three pubs for each area, if you cover more than one, and send your votes via any of the following methods: by TEXT to 07982 943 944, by EMAIL to fourbrancheswinteraletrail@yandex.com or on our FACEBOOK page The Three Branches Winter Ale Trail, @2018wintrail (set up when only three branches were involved!)

All the winners and runners-up from the 2019 trail will be taking part in what is certain to be a competitive event, so we hope that you will all send us your votes. As for the voting, please name your top three pubs in order of preference, as the award is decided on a points basis, with the top pub receiving five points, second three, and third one. If only one pub is nominated, it will receive one point, if two, they will receive three points and one point respectively.

Enjoy the trail, collect your stickers, vote for your personal choice of the best three pubs in each area, and sup those well-earned free pints at the Winter Festival!

CAMRA MEMBERS – WE NEED YOUR HELP!

The early months of 2020 are the time that CAMRA branches decide on their Good Beer Guide entries for the 2021 guide, and any CAMRA members taking part in the Winter Ale Trail can help them with that. All you need to do is log into WhatPub, find the pub you're drinking in and mark the beer you're hopefully enjoying out of five. While doing so doesn't impact in any way on the result of the Winter Trail, it could have a huge impact on whether a pub is considered for a coveted place in the Good Beer Guide or not, as this is the method used to decide which pubs are selected. While there are many fine pubs around these days, spaces in the Good Beer Guide are limited, and you can help to ensure that the very best ones make it.

The Market Tavern, South Normanton

December saw the opening of the first-ever Micropub in South Normanton, named the Market Tavern, which is situated on High Street, just down the road from the Devonshire Arms and conveniently close to bus stops on the 9.1 route in either direction.

A former charity shop, the Market Tavern has been converted into a two-room pub with customer seating at the front and the bar and some standing room at the back. There are five changing Real Ales, mainly from local breweries such as Thornbridge and Blue Monkey on offer, along with five ciders. As for opening hours, the Market will be closed on Mondays, open from 12 -10 Tuesday – Thursday, 12 – 11 Friday, 11 – 11 Saturday and 11 – 10 Sunday, so plenty of time to go and experience this mostwelcome addition to the South Normanton Real Ale scene.

Pub of Season

Pub of Year

Our shortlist for Pub of the Year contenders stands at five as follows:

Maison du Biere, Ashbourne The Cock, Clifton The Barley Mow, Kirk Ireton The Old Dog, Thorpe The Queen's Vaults, Ashbourne

Judging has taken place throughout December & January and we will confirm the winner in the next edition.

Branch Social

Fifteen branch members attended a brewery open day at Aldwark Ales on Saturday 7th December as a thank-you for their hard work during our beer & cider festival in September. A great time was had by all and our thanks go to lan & Jenny for hosting a great event.

Pub News

Smith's Tavern in Ashbourne has undergone a change of ownership and has been taken on since 5th December by Mark Grist, previously manager at the pub for well over four years.

Branch members would like to wish George & Walter congratulations on the first anniversary at the end of November of the opening of the Queen's Vaults in Ashbourne.

Artisan Bar in Ashbourne held two special events at the end of November. A tap takeover by Team Toxic featured seven excellent ales, including the renowned Sinistral reverse stout. A bottle and can "share evening" of ten high-quality stouts was also held later the same weekend and was highly appreciated by those attending, enjoying samples weighing in at as much as 13% ABV. Our thanks to Paul for putting on the two evenings.

We reported in the last edition that the Bridge in Ashbourne had been taken on by Chris Peach, but unfortunately circumstances quickly changed and Chris has now moved onto the Hawk & Buckle at Etwall. We again wish him well and offer good luck to the new team at the Bridge.

The current tenants of the Red Lion at Kniveton are leaving on 31st December due to health issues. No information was available on any new potential management at the time of going to press.

Despite it recently re-opening, we understand the Yew Tree at Ednaston has undergone a management change already. No details were available at the time of print.

Five Branches Winter Ale Trail

We have been included in the forthcoming Five Branches Winter Ale Trail (see centre pages). Three of our Branch area pubs are taking part: The Smith's Tavern, Maison du Biere and the Queen's Vaults all in Ashbourne. Do pop in and give these pubs your support and if all goes well we will include more of our pubs the next time around.

Burton & South Derbyshire Branch Social

A Beer & Chocolate tasting event took place on Friday 18th October at the Burton Bridge Brewery. The event was run by Christine Cryne, a name that many CAMRA members will know very well, being a former National Director of CAMRA. She was the first woman to run the Great British Beer Festival and has been at the forefront of CAMRA's beer tasting programme. She is also a Beer Tutor, Master Trainer, Judge and has been on the BBC Good Food show matching food and beer plus many more beer related skills under the banner "Cryne in your beer." Last but not least is her ability to demonstrate how chocolate boosts your beer knowledge as shown at this event.

It involved a talk and tasting session matching various beers and chocolates. Five beers, all from the Burton Bridge Brewery stable, were evaluated by the attendees for their aroma, flavour, texture and body. Then five chocolates, all from Burton chocolate manufacturer Oddfellows, were matched. The matching could be by complementing flavours of similar characteristics, for example a beer with spicy notes matching spicy chocolate. Alternatively, beer and chocolate can have very different effects by amplifying flavours or toning them down. We all had a little chew on different hop varieties that flavour the beers and give them bitterness as well as contributing floral and spicy aromas.

I am not going into too much detail because, a), it was complicated, and b), as the evening wore on with more beer it didn't seem to matter! The evening was great fun and really entertaining. The details are secret so as not to spoil the fun for others who may wish to partake in these activities

At the end of the evening, after votes by all the pairs of participants, the results were shown in the chart above.

Just a quick few words about the chocolate, as this would probably not work with standard varieties. Christine uses the Oddfellows Chocolate Company from Dallow Street, Burton, at her events as they specialise in a vast range of different chocolates with strong flavours to make them fun and tasty to eat and ideal for beer matching.

Blythe Brewery award at the Junction, Stretton

The Lichfield, Sutton & Tamworth Branch advised our Branch that the Blythe Brewery of Hamstall Ridware had won the 'Speciality Beer of the Festival Award' for Cained (aka Bandito) at the recent Tamworth Beer Festival. The presentation by LS&T Branch was made at the Junction, Stretton, (the Blythe Brewery's micropub and tap in Burton) on Thursday 24th October. The Pub was full, with members from both Branches. The LS&T Branch even brought a coach along for their members!

Branston Golf & Country Club

Just on the Lichfield side of Burton, this club has some 3,000 members and many outstanding facilities open to the public. It was the first club in Britain to be awarded Cask Marque accreditation, one of only four finalists nationwide for Most Welcoming Club of the Year and is one of only 160 nationwide with Golf Mark quality accreditation.

It has recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of its new clubhouse with a Jubilee Ale from Burton Bridge Brewery on tap at their bar, a special brew of Festival Ale. There was also a bottle-conditioned souvenir Jubilee Ale at 7.5% abv.

Real ales are nothing new for the Branston Golf Clubhouse and this is no doubt the reason why the Burton & South Derbyshire Branch of CAMRA make this a regular venue for the Christmas party this year we're expecting some Champion Beers of Britain!

Adrian Wedgwood, CAMRA life member in the Burton Branch, is the volunteer who organises many things at the Golf Club & advises on the beers. He is now retired but has a long history in brewing with Bass, rising from humble beginnings in the maltings to becoming a director. He even ran the Bass Museum for five years.

Cellar manager at the Clubhouse is Steve Gray, who was the bar manager at the Bass Museum and now has worked almost as long for the golf club. He is a real real ale enthusiast and has steadily increased the number of ales available. Currently Doombar is the regular and there are up to five guest ales every week. Burton Bridge Brewery are regular suppliers, which is quite handy only being a couple of miles away.

He shows here one of the joys of the job, another being his excellent article written after this visit. View Branston club: www.branstonclub.co.uk

Pub News

The Olde Royal Oak in the Market Place, Burton, has new owners after a turbulent few years with the pub being closed for periods. The previous Landlord allegedly fell foul of Star Pubs and Bars rules to use 80% minimum of their own beers. The new owners, Assetbound Ltd have no such rules and the Royal Oak is now a freehouse.

Sandra Russell took over from the dismissed landlord and is now very happy to be able to source her own ales with four hand pulls for an ever-changing array of real ales. This is a rock pub, and rock bands are already filling it on a Saturday evening.

The Duke of York, Victoria Street, Burton

This pub has been bought by three friends, Phillip Moore, Jack Singh & John Williams. They were attracted to the property as Marstons where selling off the pub, due to falling sales, economic climate and high running costs. After speaking to the landlady, Lyn Burton, and the locals, and looking at the books, they decided to give it a go! Mrs Burton was instrumental in this decision as she was happy to continue running the pub. They took over on August 16th 2019, and Ironically the closing down party organised by Lyn and all the locals turned out to be a celebratory party, staying open late! The pub is steeped in local history and is a CAMRA Heritage pub: "a historic pub interior of some regional importance." It was built in the late 1800s, estimated to be in 1881.

The locals have been reassured that their beloved Pedigree was staying, and perhaps some guest ales could be introduced from local microbreweries if the customers agree! The traditional bar is theirs in effect and that is how they like it! The rear lounge has been converted into a restaurant serving Indian street food which has proved a hit! The restaurant and kitchen are run by Chilli Kitchen. The bar and lounge areas both have multiple screens with Sky sports already in and BT being introduced soon. The pub has a good mix of Burton Albion & Derby County fans which is great to see and a good talking point and excuse for banter! It is ideally situated for fans to pop by on their way to see the Brewers.

Monday evening is Poker Night and the pub is affectionately known as the poker palace! Midweek nights soon will feature Spanish themed tapas! Salsa groups are showing an interest too. The spacious lounge is available for small events, parties meetings ,etc., with the goal being to make the pub a success. The owners have noticed that there is increased Interest with many new faces and groups of people and couples now visiting, which is encouraging.

From the photograph it can be seen the pub is now in a modern contemporary retro mix of greys and black which complements the old building and surroundings.

Burton Beer Festival date changed

Horse and Groom

The Alexandra

Time, Gentlemen, Please

"Time, gentlemen, please" was the traditional licensee's call to customers to drink up and leave their premises, something that those aged over 50 will doubtless recall. Prior to the 1988 Licensing Act, pubs were mandated to close in the afternoon, which was a legacy of World War 1 "temporary" legislation that had been drafted to lessen the likelihood of drunken munitions workers. The 2003 Licensing Act, which became effective in late 2005, facilitated 24 hours a day opening, allowing us to patronise pubs when we wish. Here, however, we're recalling some of the cunning wavs the old laws were circumvented.

I'll start with a personal incident in 1984 on a day trip to Lancaster by train which, I think, highlights the absurdity of the old licensing laws. Lunchtime found me in the city centre Farmer's Arms where I got chatting to a local who told me how to circumvent the evening opening time which negated a last pint before returning to Derby. His solution was for me to frequent the residents' bar in the Farmer's which opened earlier than Lancaster's pubs. After spending the afternoon admiring the city's architecture, I joined a queue at the appointed time and I was soon ordering a pint of Yates and Jackson bitter, a local brew due to be axed. Upon being served, however, the barman enquired which room I was staying in and my name! "Erm....room 14 (or some such number), Gibson," I replied. His cursory look at the accommodation register ascertained I wasn't resident so he refunded me for the half pint I hadn't drunk and proceeded to frogmarch me out of the place. He was incensed and I thought he was actually going to hit me! Looking back, I think it was the fact that I lied that caused him such consternation.

Certain pubs could be relied on to serve drinks after permitted hours: a "late shout" or "lock in" as they were called. One Derby pub to cock a snook at the old laws was the Horse and Groom, Parker Street, during the 25-year tenure of the late Tommy Parker. Local CAMRA member, Tim Mackervoy, takes up the story: "Tommy was a larger than life character, always found behind the bar from opening time to long after the official closing time. In common with the Brick and Tile up the road in the West End of Derby, the Groom had thick velvet curtains such that no light could be seen from outside 'after hours'. The other feature the two pubs shared was an old-style radio behind the bar allegedly tuned in to the Police frequency after the 11.00pm curfew. Tommy Parker was the first person anyone of us knew who purchased a VHS Video recorder (readers under the age of 40 are now saying "VHS what?") and pulp classics such as The Texas Chainsaw Massacre and Baby Blue are recalled being watched long after closing time. The Horse and Groom was always full of lively characters pub with his shirt hanging out on Christmas Day in the late 70s has remained 40 years on."

The Alexandra, Siddals Road, Derby, was another establishment reliable for a late drink or two when long-serving landlady, Flo Fox, kept it. I recall a Friday night in 1977 when Derby CAMRA joined the Sheffield Branch for a crawl around Derby's pubs near the railway station. We met at the Alex and a perambulation which included the much-lamented Sir Robert Peel, Park Street, finished back at the Alexandra which served Shipstones, AKA the Nottingham Medicine. It was 2.30am before I and a few others, somewhat the worse for wear, finally left the Alex. Mind you, that was surpassed by the former Derby CAMRA Pubs' Preservation Officer, the late Ivor Clissold, who left the Globe, Sacheveral Street, as the sun rose after partaking in late drinks on an emotional last night before permanent closure in 1979.

Another pub known for serving late was the Knockerdown at Knockerdown which now has Carsington reservoir for company. Back in the 70s a Mrs Smith ran it when it was a no-frills beer-based public house with a simple bar counter bereft of fonts. After receiving an order for peerless Pedigree, Mrs Smith would disappear into the stillage room at the back and return with the Burton nectar drawn straight from the cask. Happily, the pub thrives today with more of an emphasis on food.

The Knockerdown

In the early 1970s I was a member of the Ffestiniog Railway Society in North Wales and it always made me smile when Sunday trains from Porthmadog were packed with passengers, some of whom were seeking alcoholic sustenance at a time when pubs in Caernaryonshire were closed on Sunday. This was a legacy of the 1881 Welsh Sunday Closing Act. Government reorganisation in 1974 saw some county boundaries redrawn and Gwynedd became the new home of the heritage, narrow gauge railway. Common sense prevailed and pubs were permitted to open on Sundays, much to the relief of Welsh drinkers in the new county. Surprisingly though, it wasn't until the end of the 20th century that the entire principality enjoyed Sunday opening. Not far away, however, on the Isle of Man, Manx licensing law had long been liberalised.

Then there was the border issue: no, not the Irish border which has been the hot topic of political discourse these past few years, but local government's administrative boundaries. Drinkers in the Borough of Derby were disadvantaged pre-1974, compared to those outside in the county. Last orders were called for Derby drinkers at 10.30pm seven days a week, whereas outside the borough, 11.00pm on Friday and Saturday was a welcome bonus. Similarly, Nottinghamshire had the earlier drinkingup time which would see those seeking another pint, hot-footing it over the county border into Derbyshire.

So, there we have a snapshot of some of the ruses deployed by punters and publicans alike in a less liberal era. Our photograph from Eric Streets' collection shows a group of Derby CAMRA celebrants raising a glass to the newly liberalised hours granted by the 1988 Licensing Act. They're outside the Star Tavern, Belgravia, which has featured in all 47 editions of the Good Beer Guide.

Like everywhere else we have not been enjoying any autumnal sunshine. Matlock has had more than its fair share of rain resulting in flooding the town centre and other places along the River Derwent.

Many homes and businesses have been flooded and our thoughts have been with these people.

Two pubs that we know of have been flooded.

The Crown at Matlock

This Wetherspoon pub will be closed for several months while it is dried out and refurbished. It will displace lots of regulars as well as those not being able to fill a water bottle, have a quick coffee, fill up with food as well as enjoy the beer.

Square & Compass Darley Bridge.

This is directly next to the river and has recently had new landlords.

TopBeer-The Bottle and Can Review

A selection of strengths, styles and sources to test the taste-buds. Something of interest in the long dark nights, starting off with a low alcohol, low calorie beer for those drinkers on a post-Christmas detox. If you have suggestions for beers to try, contact us on Twitter @TopBeer5.

Big Easy Pale Ale 0.5%, Thornbridge (Bakewell) from the brewery shop at £1.40 per 330ml

This pours out of the glass as flat as you like with a bouquet that comes off that is citrussy yet ephemeral, giving tantalising hints of peaches and coriander (a much more pleasant combination than you might at first think). As you drink forth it gives off an even fainter, slightly watery version of these aromas, bolstered by the subtle taste of elderflower cordial. Trying to sense these delicate flavours is hindered by the strong fizz coating the tip of the tongue with tiny bubbles. As for the aftertaste – minimal: an echo of the above plus a zingy tang of citrus on the sides of the tongue. This beer has not taken kindly to being put in a bottle: it is a far more enjoyable drink when served from the cask. Ideal for enjoying a "Dry January" down at the pub.

Mangoes On The Run,
Mango IPA 5.6%, Innes &
Gunn (Edinburgh) from
Aldi at £1.29 per 330ml
Certain things are to be expected of a beer that has the appellation 'IPA': highly hopped flavours and the heat of alcohol. Or, at least one of these. But this has neither. So, if you are expecting a twist on the traditional IPA move on, otherwise, read on. The first impressions of this brew are of cooked, slightly caramelised mangoes, egg custard and over-ripe bananas. In fact, for a moment, one could think it was a Mango-Brulee. As for the flavours, if you like the children's soft mallow sweets like yellow bananas and pink shrimps, you will love this beer. Plus, it has certain characteristics that have Innes & Gunn's signature written all over them. However, like those mallow sweets, it does have the tendency to leave your mouth feeling like you need to drink a glass of water and it has an aftertaste like you have eaten the whole bag of them.

Dragon Stout 7.5%, Desnoes & Geddes (Kingston, Jamaica) from Tesco at £1.75 per 284ml

This is a dark black stout with a veil of caramel coloured bubbles that hints of a sensory bombardment on its way. But, as the glass is lifted, there is but the faintest of faint whiffs of something but not really enough of anything to be described. On the tongue there are sweet Brazil nuts with sweet blueberries and extra sweet currants. A lot more may be there but the sweetness overpowers all else, including any sense of the beer's strength. As for an aftertaste, it is overwhelmingly sweet. It's the sort of drink that in days gone by was probably fed to infants to help them sleep.

Black Stag Stout 4.8%, Peak Ales (Bakewell) from Roberts (Ashford) at £2.99 per 500ml

This bottled stout packs lots of flavour and bags of character for a pasteurised beer. The deep brown liquor bursts out of the glass offering a torrent of olfactory delights: molasses, dates, treacle toffee and whole shopful of different dried fruits. It is bold and full-on but somehow feels filled with a wintry foreboding. On the tongue these characteristics warm to reveal refreshing liquorice roots and smooth toffee, rounded off with fruity blackcurrants. This vegan beer keeps its consistency all the way down the glass. Every sip is a delight, and when all is finished, those rich flavours linger for a while on the tongue. Well worth savouring the sensations for a moment...then pour another bottle for yourself.
